My Personal beliefs on OLE and SLP

OLE is for all forms

OLE is independent of DSE – Skills and Values

OLE is about quality but not quantity – Learning purposes

SLP is a must

Self-reflection is an important learning process

OLE coordinators/masters need both passion and experiences.

It leads them back to the past and helps them understand the origin of the current events in an impartial and empathetic manner. The tour also arouses students' concern and readiness to take action in caring for and improving the environment by using scarce resources carefully and efficiently for the betterment of people's lives. The suggested scenic spots are the significant historical, cultural and environmental attractions in Kyushu. They are the main focal points for student discussion and evaluation. Their critical thinking and problem-solving skills will be nurtured through discussions and presentations.
